

Professor Penny Jane Burke is Global Innovation Chair of Equity and Director of the Centre of Excellence in Equity in Higher Education at the University of Newcastle, Australia. Penny is passionately dedicated to developing pedagogical, methodological and conceptual frameworks that support critical understanding and practice of equity and social justice in higher education and lifelong learning. This includes generating accessible resources for supporting teaching for equity, such as Teaching Inclusively: Changing Pedagogical Spaces (Burke and Crozier). Penny is Editor of Teaching in Higher Education and recipient of the UK's prestigious Higher Education National Teaching Fellow award (2008). Her publications are dedicated to creating time and space for critical reflexive praxis and to research that contributes to educational transformation. This includes her books Accessing Education effectively widening participation (Burke, 2002, Trentham Books), Reconceptualising Lifelong Learning: Feminist Interventions (Burke and Jackson, 2007, Routledge), The Right to Higher Education: Beyond widening participation (Burke, 2012, Routledge) and Changing Pedagogical Spaces in Higher Education (Burke, Crozier and Misiaszek,, 2016, Routledge). Penny has held the posts of Professor of Education at the University of Roehampton, the University of Sussex and Reader of Education at the Institute of Education, University of London.
